Supplier Data

We collect supplier data directly from you. The main reasons for storing and processing your personal data is to ensure that we can complete the contractual arrangements between us and comply with any legal and binding requirements.

Website Users

If you send us an application form, your CV or contact us with personal information for employment purposes, we may store that information for 12 months. We do not share your information with any third parties and would only contact you within that 12-month period should a suitable post arise.

SAFEGUARDING PERSONAL DATA

We care about protecting your information. That's why we put in place appropriate measures that are designed to prevent unauthorised access to, and misuse of, your personal data. Those processes include but are not limited to; encrypted server access, Laptop devices are security protected, all antivirus and gateway security settings are up to date and monitored.

RETENTION OF PERSONAL DATA

Data stored and processed in our internal IT systems. If we have not had meaningful contact with you for a period of seven years, we will remove your personal data from our systems unless we believe another processing requirement, such as legal or contractual regulation requires for us to retain it.

USE OF EMPLOYEE PERSONAL DATA

Employee personal data is collected for the following purposes:

- To enrol the employee as a system user
- To book travel for employees
- To process the employee's wages, P60, P11D or P45
- For the health, safety and welfare of employees.
- To enrol employees within the holiday scheme and pension scheme
- To enrol employees in training courses and/ or apprenticeships
- For appraisals and internal recruitment processes

All employee records are held securely and will be destroyed 3 years after the employee's employment has ended. Employee personal data will never be sold or passed to a third party without the employee's permission.

If an employee has a GA Barnie e-mail address, we will always use this in the first instance. We would contact employees via their personal e-mail addresses for the following reasons:

- To advise them of travel arrangements for upcoming works
- To obtain Right to Work in the UK information
- To obtain DVLA licence check information – this occurs annually
- Company broadcasts, these generally occur in exceptional circumstances such as CoVID.

HOW TO ACCESS, AMEND OR TAKE BACK YOUR PERSONAL DATA

If we are holding or using your personal information, you may change your mind at any time by writing to the Data Protection Officer, G & A Barnie Group Ltd. 16 Carsegate Road South, Inverness IV3 8LL, or emailing us at Sheila.b@gabarnie.co.uk

We will process the removal of your personal information within 20 days, sometimes sooner. Please note that we may keep a record of your communications to help us resolve any issues which you raise.

Right to object

If we are using your data because we deem it necessary for our legitimate interests to do so, and you do not agree, you have the right to object. We will respond to your request within 20 days (although we may be allowed to extend this period in certain cases). Generally, we will only disagree with you if certain limited conditions apply.

Right to erase

In certain situations, you have the right to request us to “erase” your personal data. We will respond to your request within a maximum of 20 days and will only disagree with you if certain limited conditions apply. If we do agree to your request, we will remove your data. We will assume that you would prefer us to keep a note of your name on our system as a person who would prefer not to be contacted by G & A Barnie Group Ltd, as this will ensure that we can minimise the future risk of your data being resubmitted and used in the future. If you would prefer that this is not the case, please let us know.

OUR LEGAL BASIS FOR PROCESSING YOUR DATA

Legitimate interests

Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR states that we can process your data where it “is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by [us] or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights or freedoms of [you] which require protection of personal data.”

Customer data

We think it reasonable that if you have communicated with us in the past or we have had meaningful contact with you within the past 5 years that there is legitimate interest that you will continue to benefit from our continued communication.

We want to provide potential customers with the opportunity to hear about our products and services and request additional information. We therefore deem it that if you operate in a sector that regularly benefits from our products and services and your information has been made available in the public domain that we can contact you to advise you of our products and services. We will have an upfront and honest approach to this and provide you with the opportunity to opt out of any further communications from us. Personal details may be used to for administrative purposes including invoicing.

Supplier data

We store and process the personal data of individuals within your organisation in order to facilitate the receipt of services from you as one of our suppliers. We also hold your financial details, so that we can pay you for your services. We deem all such activities to be necessary within legitimate interests.

Contractual

Article 6(1)(b) gives us lawful basis for processing personal data where; “processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is party or in order to take steps at the request of the data subject prior to entering into a contract”

In this context, a contract does not have to be a formal signed document, or even written down, as long as there is an agreement which meets the requirements of contract law. Broadly speaking, this means that the terms have been offered and accepted, you both intend them to be legally binding, and there is an element of exchange (usually an exchange of goods or services for money, but this can be anything of value).

Customer data

Where we and you have entered in a contractual agreement to deliver products and services, we will process the appropriate and required information in order to do so i.e. address details of the company.
